मोडणे v c & n (मुट or मुड S) To break. This is the general sense both of this verb and of the verb तोडणे, but the implications and aspects of the two verbs are very different, and the difference it is difficult to apprehend and state. तोडणे seems to imply A severing or sundering by some violent action, and, not by pounding, or by beating with any thing ponderous or massy, but rather by forcible application of some edged instrument, or by sudden and smart pulling. तोडणे therefore is Hewing, hacking, chopping, lopping &c; snapping, bursting, rending, ripping, plucking &c. Whereas मोडणे may be explained as implying A dissolution or destruction of the form or state, and whether with or without violence. मोडणे therefore is Battering, razing, crushing, routing, scattering, disbanding, subduing (reducing to humbleness or weakness,) violating, infringing, stopping (causing to cease,) interrupting, suspending &c &c, and almost throughout the senses both literal and figurative of all these words. Attentive study of the following figurative significations or popular applications of this verb, and, also, of those inserted under मोडणे, will empower the learner to apprehend the distinction here made, and to apply the two verbs agreeably with it. 1 To break off or bend down, (the heads of growing corn.) 2 To violate, (orders, promises, engagements.) 3 To abolish, (fashions, practices.) 4 To rout, disperse, scatter, (an army &c.) 5 To change, (money.) 6 To make bankrupt. 7 To bring down, to humble, (pride:) to disturb, interrupt, (sleep, any proceeding business:) to quench, satisfy, (thirst:) to put down, quell, settle, dissolve, break, (an insurrection, a quarrel, a concert, &c.) 8 v intr To be included under, to lie or pass in subordinate connexion with;—used of Muhal's, villages &c with respect to Talooka's, forts &c. Ex सुवर्णदुर्गाखालीं मुरुड मोडतें, Or, to pass under the name of. Ex शिवधनी सुपारीचे नावाखालीं मुरुडचोही मोडतो 9 To be broken up, to become desolate, bankrupt &c;—a city or village, a merchant &c. 10 To be spent, be employed or consumed;—days, years. 11 To follow after the course, style, or fashion of. Ex मराठी भाषा बहुतकरून संस्कृताचे मोडणीने मोडती अंग मोडून घेणे To ache and feel as if broken or generally luxated;—the body when fever is approaching.
